CRIMINAL PROFILING—Psychological Analysis

As you take on the role of an FBI profiler, you must analyze Frankenstein's creature and Victor himself, based on the crimes they have committed in the novel. Analysis should include answers to the following questions.

1. What does this character look like? How does he carry himself? How does he dress?
2. How does this character speak? Does he have any identifiable speech patterns?
3. Where was this character born? How was he raised?
4. Describe the time period in which this character lives. How do the times affect this character's thinking and actions?
5. What is this character's main motivation? Why?
6. Describe any redeeming qualities this character may have.
7. Analyze the character's personality flaws. From what do they stem? How do they affect the choices he/she makes?
8. Choose an object this character holds or would hold dear. Explain the connection.
9. Does this character have any secrets? If so, explain.
10. Who would be this character's contemporary counterpart? Explain your choice.

CRIME-SCENE DIAGRAMS

Recreate a crime scene diagram of a murder scene involving your character.

Diagrams should make clear the who, what, and where of the crime.

Criminal Profile

Name:

Aliases:

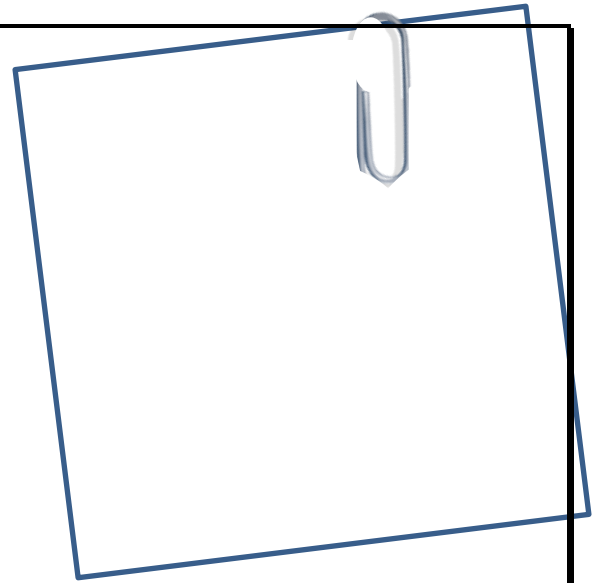

Birthdate:

Height:

Weight:

Eyes:

Hair:

Distinguishing Marks:

Education:

Wanted For:

Psychological Analysis (see questions on first page):

Crime Scene Diagram (label pertinent parts and include a quote from the book for each one)

Criminal Profile

Name:

Aliases:

Birthdate:
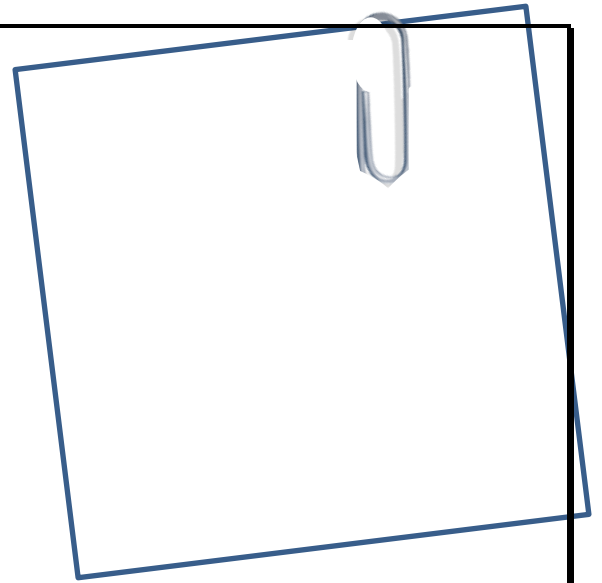

Height:

Weight:

Eyes:

Hair:

Distinguishing Marks:

Education:

Wanted For:

Psychological Analysis (see questions on first page):

Crime Scene Diagram (label pertinent parts and include a quote from the book for each one)

Modern Crimes the monster could be charged with: (Be sure you use citations from the novel that proves he intended to commit the crimes.)

Modern Crimes Victor could be charged with: (Be sure you use citations from the novel that proves he intended to commit the crimes.)